

KEEPING WHĀNAU MĀORI FRONT AND CENTRE AT END OF LIFE

ZOOM WEBINAR

Thursday 7 December, 7.30 – 8.30am

BREAKFAST
SESSION

DR TESS MOEKE-MAXWELL

Senior Research Fellow, Te Ārai, University of Auckland
Ngāi Tai ki Tamaki & Ngāti Porou

Tess is a Senior Research Fellow and co-director of the Te Ārai Palliative Care and End of Life Research Group at the School of Nursing, University of Auckland. Tess leads Kaupapa Māori Research (KMR) projects on behalf of Te Ārai's Kāhui Kaumātua advisory group to improve the end of life for kaumātua (elders) and their whānau (family, including extended family) caregivers. Tess and her team use arts-based knowledge translation methods to disseminate research findings to whānau Māori and health professionals. She is a member of the Ministry of Health's newly formed Palliative Care Advisory Group.

In this presentation Tess will reflect on the tikanga (customs), and preferences expressed by whānau Māori at the end of life. Since completing her post-doctoral work in 2012 Tess has continued to research whānau using Kaupapa Māori and Māori centred research methods to gather and share information about their end of life cultural needs and practices. She will present the key findings of research she has led over the past 10 years, with and for whānau, under the direction of the Te Ārai Kāhui Kaumātua.

REGISTRATIONS REQUIRED

Use the link:

<https://tinyurl.com/HOSDEC>